

WinCE.net vs. XPeTeleCLIENT TC7xxx Series vs. TC8xxxx Series

Feature	Description	Windows CE.net	Windows XP Embedded (XPe)
RDP	Remote Desktop Protocol 5.1 that allows a thin client or a XPe device to connect to Terminal Services across a LAN, WAN, dial up, DSL or VPN connection	RDP 5.1	RDP 5.1
ICA	Independent Computing Architecture by Citrix that allows thin clients or any desktop device to connect to a Citrix MetaFrame server	ICA 6.3	ICA 6.3
Terminal Emulations	Emulators that allow connection to a Legacy or Unix host, such as IBM 3270 and 5250	Yes, optional	Yes, optional
Internet Explorer	Web browser application that allows thin client or XPe device to surf the Internet	Internet Explorer 6.0 for WinCE	Internet Explorer 6.0
JVM	Java Virtual Machine allows Java code to run on Windows, Macintosh and Unix devices and workstations	Only via third party	Microsoft JVM
Flash	Plug in for rendering of Macromedia Flash files	Only via third party	Yes
Adobe Acrobat Reader	Plug in for rendering of Adobe PDF files	Yes	Yes
Media Player	Microsoft application that enables audio and video streaming	Windows Media 5	Windows Media 8
.net Framework Support	Program environment for secure downloadable applications	No	Yes, support for up to .net Framework 1.1
Local Win32 Application Support	Ability to install, download Windows applications for local use without using RDP or ICA	No	Yes, full Win32 application support
Device Drivers	Software utilities that allows peripherals to function on thin clients or XP desktops	Limited drivers for WinCE only	Full support of XP device drivers
Management Software	Server/workstation application that allows administrators to remotely manage thin clients and workstations	TeleManager 4.00 only. Altiris support coming Q1 2004	Altiris Deployment Solution for Clients. TeleManager provides limited support.
Local file storage	Ability to save files to a local fixed drive	No	Yes